Robert Turner is the author or co-author of 18 books on transportation history and several others are in preparation. Robert is a Curator Emeritus at the Royal British Columbia Museum in Victoria after having been their Chief of Historical Collections for many years. As a heritage consultant, he has extensive experience with heritage sites, historic railway operations, restoration projects and museum developments from many countries. He has worked for the Canadian Museum of Civilization, the Canadian Parks Service, the City of Vancouver, the Prince George Railway and Forestry Museum, the Dawson City Museum, the City of Nelson, the Canadian Museum of Rail Travel, the Cowichan Valley Regional District (Kinsol Trestle Restoration), and a number of other institutions and government agencies. Since 1988 he has been historian and restoration interpretation advisor for the SS Moyie National Historic Site at Kaslo, BC. His newest book is The Klondike Gold Rush Steamers, A History of Yukon River Steam Navigation. Other recent titles include The Canadian Pacific's Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway, 1905-1949, and Vancouver Island's Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway, 1949-2013.
